List of AT&T U-verse channels

This is the national television channel lineup for IPTV and VDSL internet service provider AT&T U-verse, as of November 19, 2010.[1] Some channels have both east and west feeds, airing the same programming with a three-hour delay on the latter feed, creating a backup for subscribers who may have missed a particular program; the three-hour delay also represents the time zone difference between Eastern (UTC -5/-4) and Pacific (UTC -8/-7).

All channels are the East Coast feed, if not specified; both the east and west coast feeds of certain channels are available to all subscribers where noted, otherwise only the coastal feed serving their region of the United States (east coast feed for the Central and Eastern time zones and the west coast feed for the Pacific and Mountain time zones) are available.

- [2] Subscribers can receive most regional sports channels exclusively with the U450 package; otherwise, regional sports channels serving the subscriber's particular region of the U.S. are only available to customers who subscribe to all other packages (except U-family). Some regional sports networks are only delivered to areas where that network's teams are in-market. HD feeds of regional sports networks are only available in the RSN's market, except for YES and SportsTime Ohio whose HD feeds are distributed nationally. As of December 15th, 2010, U-Verse changed offering of RSN's to where the SD feeds are in-market only in U100 except for YES, SNY, and SportsTime Ohio which are available nationally in U450. The HD feeds of the regional sports networks are available nationally in HD extra except for those which are only distributed in-market.
